

(ASL flashcards)

a free printable packet from
Kori @ Just Another Mom

Thank you so much for downloading this pack! I've touched, briefly, on the benefits of teaching babies sign language but I wanted to expand on that a bit. Sweet B, my autistic daughter, uses sign language on occasion to communicate her needs. This was created with her in mind but can be used with a child of almost any ability. I also hope to have a few YouTube videos up soon covering basic signs and the alphabet.

What you get in this pack:

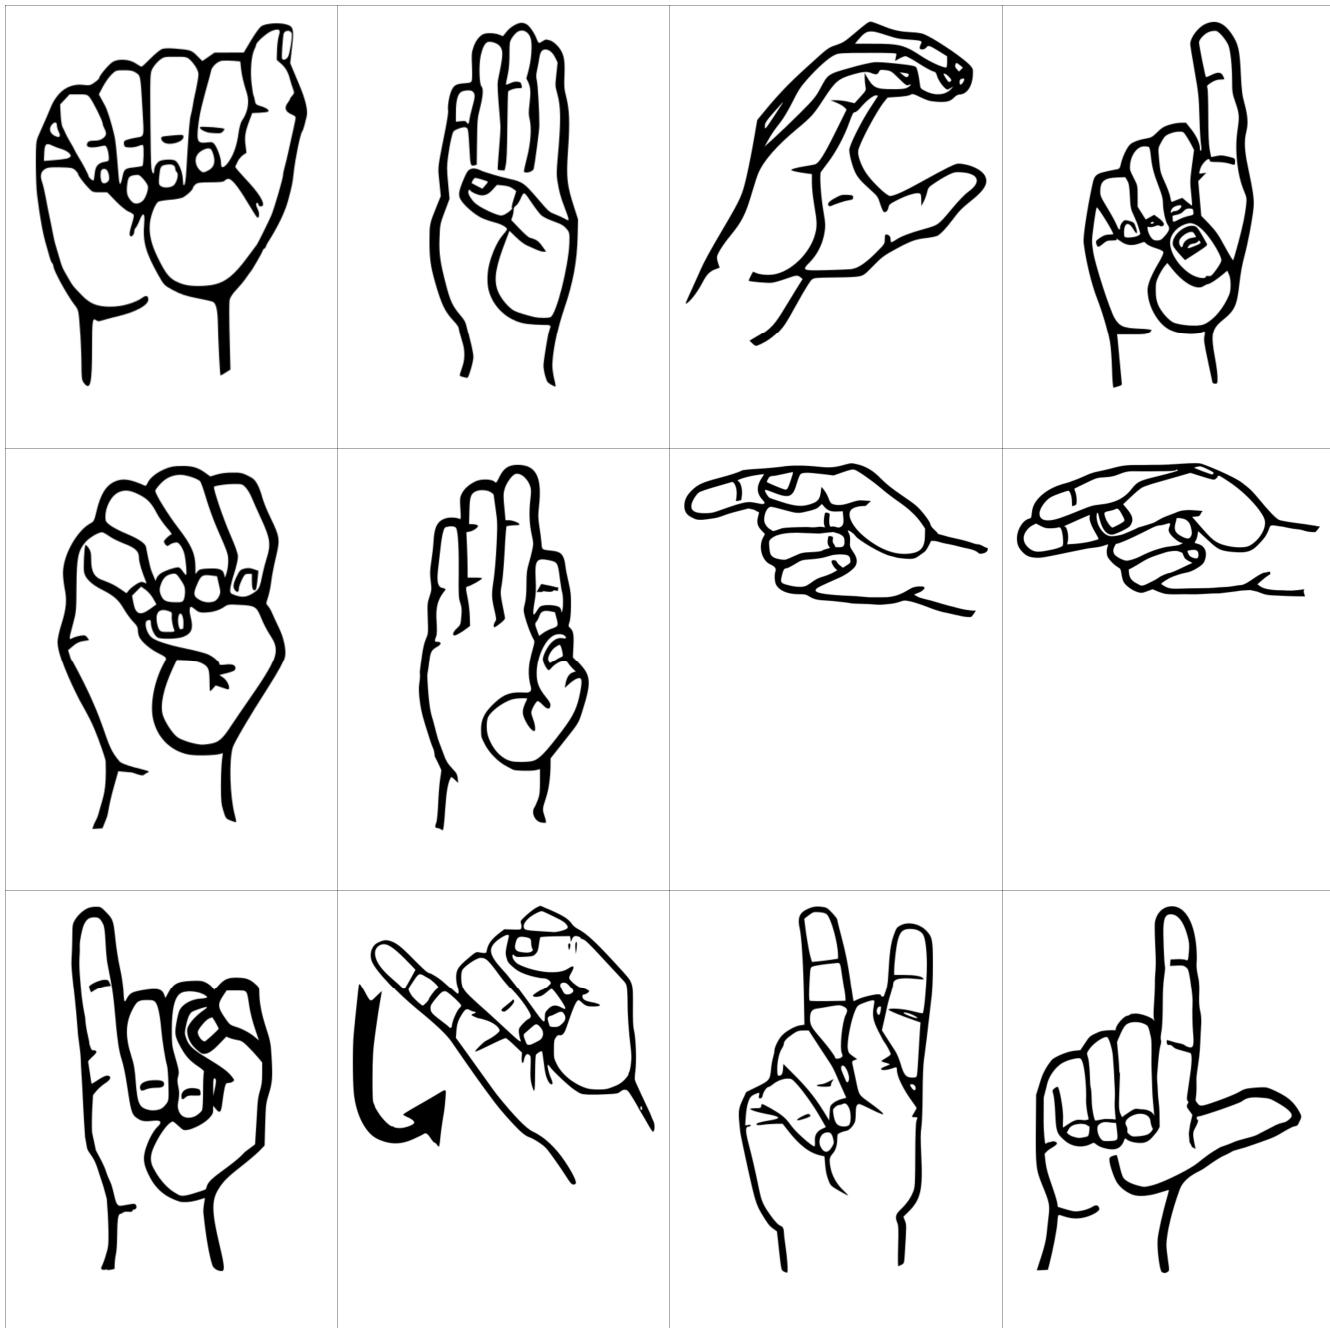

- Alphabet flashcards (with labels and without)
- Number flashcards (0 to 9)
- Common signs

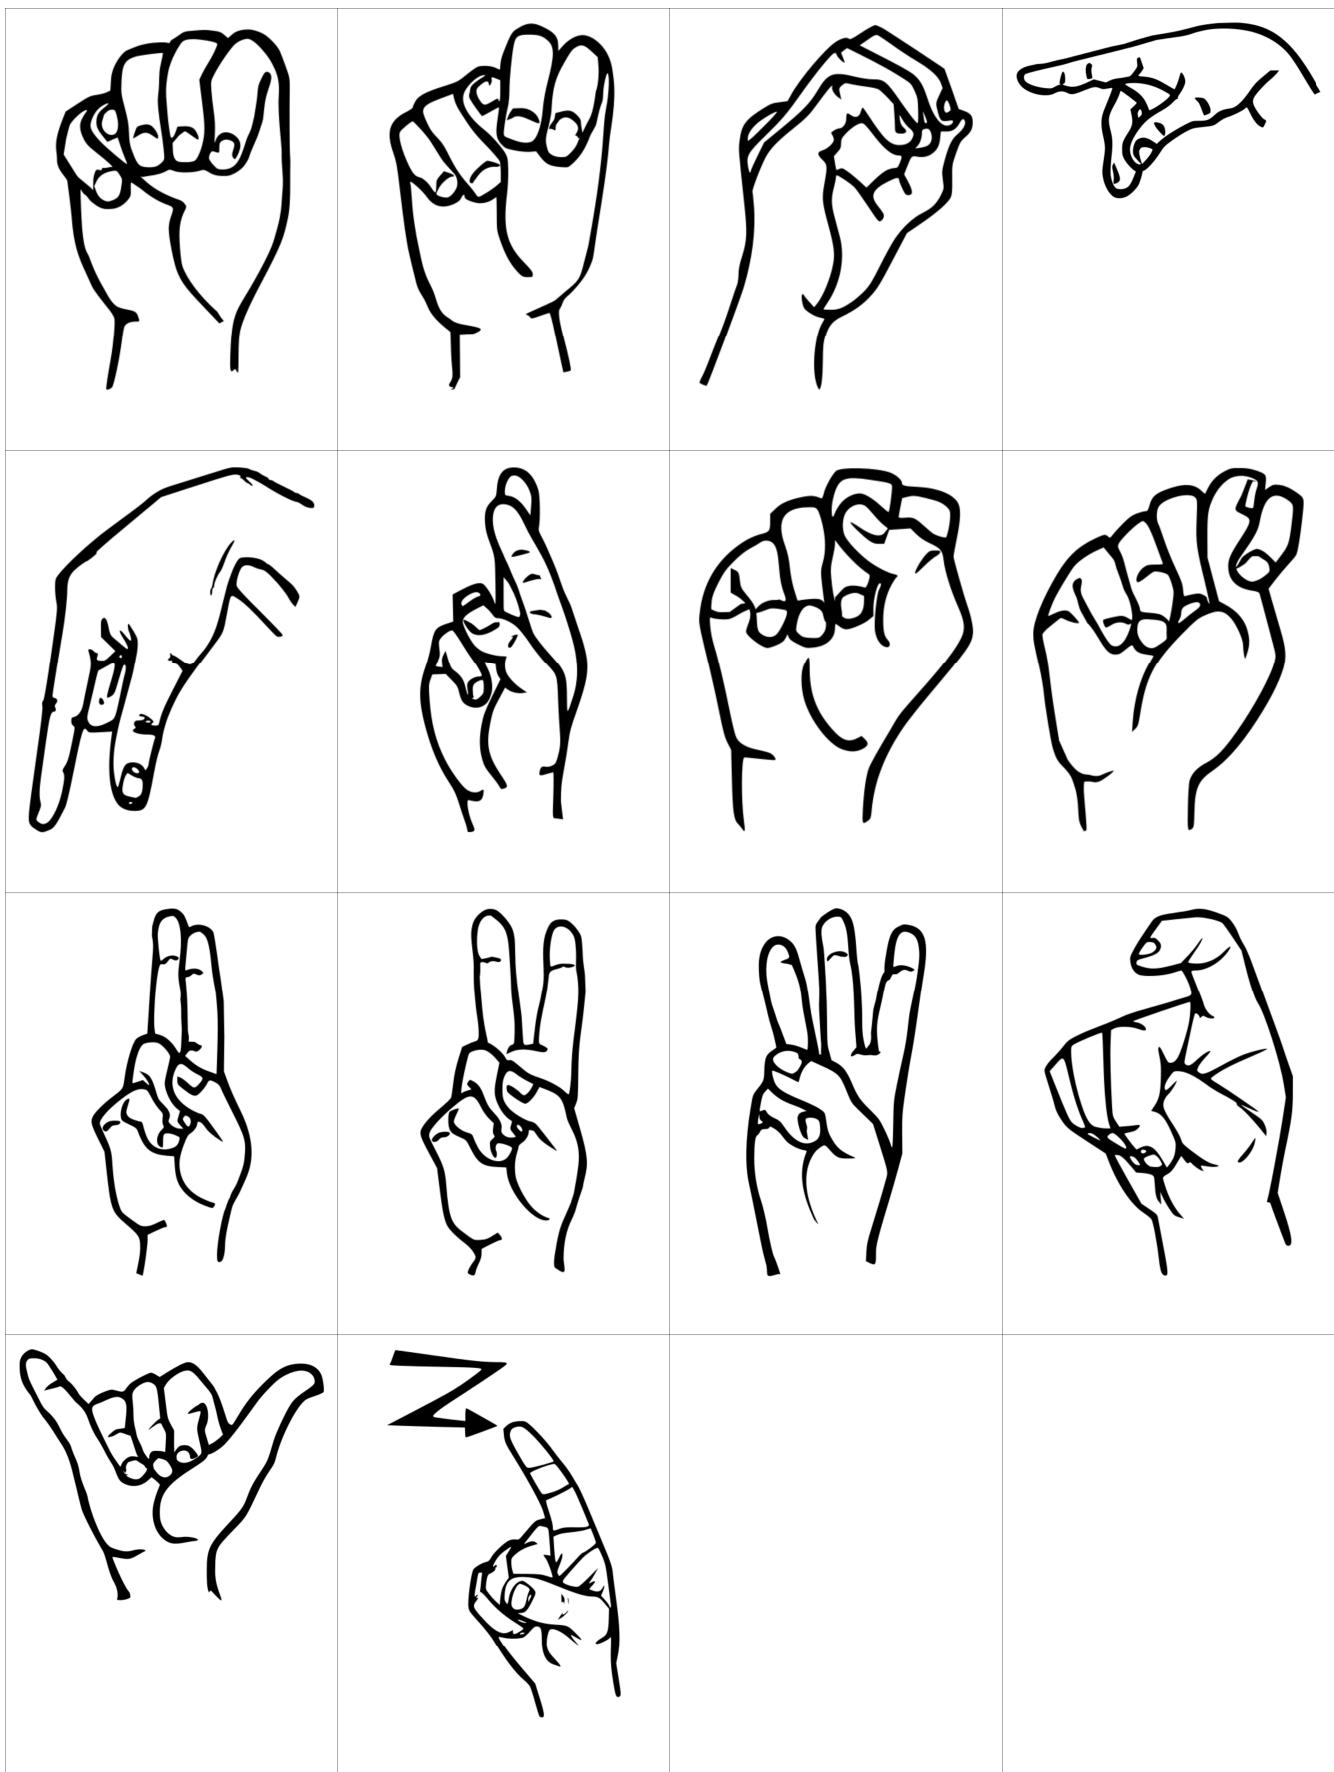

How to use this pack:

Create a memory game by printing out two copies of the flashcards. Use them for vocabulary building or practice. You could also use the alphabet flashcards for spelling games.

If you have any questions, please contact me: justanothermom.net@gmail.com
